Joshua Basin Water District Announces Leadership Transition Following General Manager Sarah Johnson's Decade of Service

Joshua Basin Water District (JBWD) announces that General Manager Sarah Johnson's tenure will conclude on November 5, 2026, following more than a decade of dedicated service. During her time with the District, Johnson provided leadership in operations and administration, supporting JBWD's mission of delivering essential water services to the Joshua Tree community.

General Manager Johnson's Remarks

"It has been an honor to lead Joshua Basin Water District and serve this community," said Johnson. "I am proud of what we have accomplished together and grateful for the dedicated employees whose professionalism and commitment make the District's work possible every day. I deeply value the relationships and experiences that have shaped my time here, and I wish the District continued success."

Board of Directors' Remarks

"The Joshua Basin Water District Board of Directors extends its appreciation to Sarah Johnson for more than a decade of dedicated service and leadership. The Board recognizes her contributions and accomplishments, including her tenure as General Manager, and wishes her continued success in her future endeavors."
